She went to the electric lighting station, hoping that one of the powerful magnets would extract it, but this failed to be the case. A surgeon now has charge. The needle entered the palm while she was rubbing on a washboard.

A CUTTING AFFRAY NEAR A WEST SIDE SALOON

The Bickering of a Pair of Intoxicated Miners Leads to Serious Results-Six Wounds Inflicted-Rouch May Die-His Assailant at Large.

Two miners from West Brookfield Peter Keiplinger and Martin Rouch, spent the greater part of Saturday night, noon Sunday from New York with the prior to twelve o'clock, in making merry while they indulged in beer and sociability over a round table in Andy Wilhelm's saloon, directly west of the C., L. reasons being that there were more than & W. station. Before their vocabulary of appropriate adjectives was exhausted Rouch made a strictly original remark regarding Mrs Keiplinger which offended the noble husband and detender of that lady and he informed the de-famer of his legal spouse that when he got him outside of town he would make him prove the bold and unwarranted assertion. At this time it is not thought the injuries will be serious, although a surgeon whe examined them yesterday says the last one described has fatal possibilities.

at his home they drove to Keiplinger's residence with the intention of arresting him, but he was not there and has not yet been apprehended, although he will be if he does not leave the country. It is the opinion of the officers that the murderous assailant stabbed to kill, his reputation being sadly clouded through past notorious Keiplinger tribe from the "Patch."

Spring politics are beginning to engage attention. On Saturday Mr. George V L. Mellinger formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination. He is the only one of his party to thus proclaim his ambition, and as things now look he will secure the plume. Mayor Blake is experiencing considerable opposition for a renomination, but it is hard to make a prediction as to his chances. There is one thing certain, however, and that is that Canton Republicans propose to make a Latest designs in ladies' small-sized strong fight and will give the Democratic party a stiff contest.

The Toledo Blade, barring a few idiosyncrasies relating to state politics and politicians, is a great paper. Probably the people of Toledo do not appreciate the fact that no evening paper in this country, barring the New York Post, is more carefully edited.

There is a lingering suspicion over here in Massillon, that Col J. J. Clark, the responsible parent of the Canton "memorial" scheme, is a thorough believer in vox populi, vox Dei, when vox populi is raised in harmony with the voice of J. J. Clark, but not otherwise.

The Mercury, of Liverpool, England, of February 5, has this:

"The effect of the McKinley tariff on the exports of cutlery from Sheffield to the United States is again strikingly shown by the official figures relating to the past month. In January, 1890, the exports amounted in value to £415, whereas last month the value was only £8,331, a falling off of nearly 50 per cent."

It must be very annoying to the disciples of St. Cleveland to run across paragraphs like the above.

The magnamity of the city of Can ton is really marvellous. As to that city's willingness to go into the "memorial" scheme, solely for Canton's benefit, Col. Clark says:

"The universal sentiment here is for a county building. The people of Canton are citizens of Stark county, and they admit and recognize the tie that binds the county seat to every part of the county. They are willing to be taxed to aid the county in getting a memorial building that will be an honor, and should be the pride and boast of every man, woman and child in the county." If this is not generosity, what is

From Col. Clark's first epistle to the citizens of Alliance, who, having built one memorial for themselves don't want to help pay for another in Canton:

"In view of all these facts it seems to me that the opposition to this patriotic and beneficent measure is very short-sighted, selfish and perverse, even if we lay aside the deep and never-to-be-forgotten and never-to-be-repaid obligation we all owe to the brave and now almost nameless and forgotten dead men who so nobly represented Stark county in the late war."

If the enthusiastic colonel will ponder over the above lines rgain, he will probably realize that they are altogether stuff and nonsense.

This also is from the pen of Col.

Clark, the "memorial" boomer: "I trust that the sterling patriot- bulk.

old rich and prosperous county will not be found wanting in the hour of HE DISCUSSES POINTS

This assumption of a superior order of patriotism on the part of Col. Clark is a bit of impudence. The "sterling patriotism" of this county is not passing through any deep valley or dark shadow. What Col. Clark would have us believe to be patriotism pure and undefiled is only a high quality of sordid selfishness. In the real hour of trial this city sent as many volunteers into the field as any community in the state in proportion to its size, and it com memorated their virtues in carved stone, and that without making it a matter of taxation.

Thus says the Canton Repository in the way of an interview with some individual unknown:

'Let's see, there is Massillon with $3,000,000 on her tax duplicate. And then there is Canton with $12,-000,000 or $13 000,000. Now, I understand that the county paid $6,500 the part that Canton paid to be be acout $2,000. Did you hear Cantonians kicking about that? No. Neither did I. Well, now as I figure it Massillon's share of taxes towards the memorial building would be to said agreement. Now we have a about $3,000. Is Massillon kicking? They say so. But I don't want to believe it."

No: Massillon is not kicking-it would be undignified. It is strenuously objecting. What are the facts? Get the auditor's report. Massillon's duplicate is $3,259,250; privi's resignation will cause a crash. | Canton's is only $9,241,270. The armory cost but $3,500. The alleged memorial is to cost any where from $100,000 to $150,000. Again: Massillon did not have anything to do with the armory. The adjutant general of the state ordered its erection in conformity to now ex isting state laws, and it was a matter wholly out of city or county control. Beside, it is not for ornamentnobody would ever call it a thing of beauty. It was built for use, and is by fixing a scale for run of mine coal and

AT ISSUE IN THIS STATE

Work of the Late Convention as Regarded by the Operators-The Latter Holding a Mistaken Position-Good Results of the Miners' Organiza tion. MR. EDITOR:-Dissatisfaction was very early manifested on the part of the Ohio coal operators at the conclusion arrived at by the convention of mine delegates, held in Columbus in the latter part of January. Their meeting following closely on that of the miners' and their repudiation of all that had been passed upon by the miners may have seemed wise to them, but it will certainly bear discussion. The opera tors knew full well at the time that the national convention was called to meet in the same city on the 10th, and whatever was passed upon in the state con-vention as to scale, coal screening, and the number of hours for a day's work, would be subject to revision in the na tional convention, and knowing this it would certainly have been the part of wisdom to have waited until they saw the outcome of the national convention. They further knew that whatever was agreed upon in the national convention would be submitted to the convention of operators and miners to be held in the city of Pittsburg, Pa, in April, for their for an armory for Massillon's military company. Of this $6,500 I estimate in session, and before the representatives had approunced or arrived at any conclusion as to what they were going to demand, the Onio operators, through their secretary, notified the Western Pennsylvania operators of their withdrawal from the joint agreement, they being a party member of the executive board of the Ohio Operators' Association announcing

> The way to avoid strikes, as has been done in the last few years is to take part in the conference and try to bring about the best results possible to all conserned. Nero kept on at his fiddling when Rome was burning, but he would have shown more wisdom had he cast his fiddle away and got a bucket of water when the first sparks were seen. The great bone of contention, as the writer understands it, between the Ohio operators and their workmen is, the weighing of coal before screening. It may be, and it may not be, that certain operators have intimated to their workmen that they are ready to receive a proposition as to price on run of mine coal where coal is being screened before being weighed. Be that is it may, the screened coal and that the question be deferred and submitted to the joint meeting of miners and operators to be held in Pittsburg in April.

> through the press that they prefer to strike rather than submit to the conditions asked. It is difficult to believe that the Ohio operators desire a strike, and the miners' answer to that might be as it has often been in years past, "That as you will it."

The matter of eight hours constituting a day's work, is a foregone conclusion with the miners all over the country, and if carried out will work injury to no employer of miners, and above all to employers in Ohio, for the miners, at present as well known, work shorter hours in Ohio than they do in other states, and in this respect, it will be a benefit to Ohio operators. It is conceded on all hands that a strike is a barbarous way to settle a dispute. And he it remembered in nine cases in every ten, strikes have been inaugurated by the refusal of the lings of machinery. Hood's Sarsaparilla employer, to meet and discuss matters with his employes, matters that concerned and of interest to both. While it has often been said that the miners were ready, for the slightest cause, to strike; teme has demonstrated the incorrect. ness of the assertion. At no time since since the first scale was signed, have the miners ever broken faith, or given cause for alarm, but have held sacred and inviolate that pledge they made through their representatives, and this in face of the tact that coal advanced several times in the market, so much so as would have warranted them in asking an advance. These are matters for Ohio operators to consider. Another thing worthy of their consideration is that the association of miners and mine workers is not intended to operate against the best interests of capital, nor can it be said it basever worked in that direction, indeed, the very opposite contains. The miners never lose sight of the fact that an injury to the trade of the district or mine in which they are employed is an injury to themselves as well as to their employers. And when coal is being sold under insane cutthroat competition none feel its effects quicker and more keenly than the miners. It was this which led the miners to take the initiative in having a scale of prices arranged covering competing dis tricts and checking such injurious competition. The wisdom of the plan has demon-strated itself so clearly since its introduction up to the present by bringing better prices to the operator, higher wages to the workman, and fewer trou bles to be adjusted, that it requires no argument to prove it. Financially, the association has never been strong, and in that respect it is stronger at present than it ever has been before, but for knowledge and wisdom shown on the part of the officers since its promotion, nothing in the history of miners' organizations does equal it. The demagogue and blatherskite have never had a place in it, conciliation and arbitration has always been its motto, and where conciliation at any time has failed to settle the case, the officers at all times have been ready to submit the matter to an impartial board of arbitrators. In the line of their duty they have been led to study the markets as to prices realized in competing districts where coal is being shipped to, freight rates, transfers, etc., that they have always a good case to submit for arbitration.

It has sometimes been made a condition in fixing the scale that certain districts would comply with its provisions providing others were made to do likewise. It always devolved upon the min ers to see that those who did not feel inclined to comply were made to do so. This has led to trouble in some places, but there are more districts receiving scale rates to-day than at any time since the system was brought about; that be ing the case, it would be wisdom on the part of the Ohio operators to withdraw from the joint agreement themselves from the conference w. G. M. from the joint agreement and atsent

Note and Comment on Men and Doings at Russell Co.'s.

Geo. L. Russell is again with us this morning Berard Portner is now able to walk and will be on deck in a few days. Emmet Stevens has been suffering from an attack of rheumatism. Philip Geis has not yet been able to return to work, since injured in the farm engine department.

J. I. Graves is yet sick in Canton. Austin Hisey's is not improved. He is yet in Cleveland.

Fred Lucker's health is about the same as when last reported.

Charles Rock has been having a long siege of rheumatism and is yet confined to his home.

David Umbenhour is still confined to the house by illness.

The injuries I. M. Dean received in his fall were much more serious than was at first supposed. The wrenching of the shoulder consequent upon the twisted position of the arm upon which he fell, was so severe as to cause his arm, neck and side to swell; and the flesh is very much discolored. Mr. Dean wears glasses, and although early in the evening, while going out with a coal bucket in his hand, did not notice the obstruction at the foot of the steps. He was suffering much pain yesterday morning and is unable to work the sore and stiffened muscles, though the swelling is receding and his condition improving as fast as can be expected.

Melcher Rith is seriously ill with erysipelas. He is one of those familiar figres around the works that seem to be a part of the institution, and appear to always be the same. And while there are very few men who would be missed here more than faithful "little Mike," and they are very few who have not a warm side for him, and his speedy recovery is hoped for.

Mr. W. H. Stansbury was in the country yesterday to see his grand parents, who are the oldest married couple in Stark county. He says Mr. Stansbury is much better, though Mrs. Stansbury is very poorly. They have celebrated the sixty-third anniversary of their marriage and not the sixty second, as stated in THE INDEPENDENT the other day.

In the light of past experience it is not strange that the average mechanic has little faith in the efficacy of such measures as that passed by the senate at Washington last week to regulate foreign immigration. For many years laws have been on the statute books to prevent foreign contract labor in the United States, and yet gangs of human beings from the lowest lowest strata of the most despotic governments of Europe are applied for, and procured, to become a menace to a form of society they are unable to appreciate; in a country of which they do not intend to become citizens, and no intelligent American citi zen, native born or naturalized, can have any regrets that they have not such intention since their intellect is of such low order as to preclude the possibility of their even understanding what it means. But no person of even ordinary intelligence can look upon this canker upon the body politic and not feel that the greatest anarchist in the country today is he, who with the same spirit that actuated the clave trader, engages in this loatheome society destroying traffic, There will have to be a heavier penalty than a small fine of violation of the law to prevent these unpatriotic practices.

Rheumatism is like sand in the bearis the great lubricator which cures the disease.

THE TOWN OF YUMA, ARIZ., UNDER WATER.

Hundreds of People Said to Be Drowned.

The Unfortunate Inhabitants Quartered in Tents on the Hill Tops-The Water Rose Six Feet in Twelve Hours, and Came Without Warning-Many Fear That the Worst Is Yet to Come-Officers at Ft. Yuma Doing Everything in Their Power for the Relief of the Suf-

YUMA, ARIZ., March 2.—Over 250 houses are in ruins in this place and 1.400 people are homeless. It is feared that hundreds of lives have been lost in the Gila valley. No reliable reports can be obtained from that locality, as the roads are impassable and all the wires are down. Above Yuma the river is seven miles wide and below the town water covers the country in one grand lake over fifty miles across. Over 1,000 persons are being fed daily at the Southern Pacific hotel and the town has provisions sufficient for eight days more. The blockade of westbound trains, it is expected, will be raised in about four days, but it will be at least two weeks on the hills has been thrown open to re-beive the homeless, and hundreds are quartered in tents and in the old government buildings. The merchants have opened their goods in the streets in order to help the sufferers.

The Worst Yet to Come. The water is still high for 200 miles east of this point, and as all of this must pass here many fear that the worst is yet to come, and especially if there should be any further rainfall. The losses in this county will foot up nearly $2,000,000 and the damage suffered by the railroad company will amount to more than $250,000. The common loss has brought all classes of citizens together, and all have worked with a will, first in trying to save the town by constructing a rude levee, and, when that effort proved futile, in saving as much as possible from the ruins. The old town will probably not be rebuilt, as both merchants and residents will erect their stores and houses on the nills, in order to be out of reach of further damage. A boat which arrived yesterday from Mohawk, sixty miles up the Gila river, brings reports of errible Loss of Life, all the country being under water. The greatest sufferers are the poor Mexicans whose entire possessions have been swept away and who have no reserves and every one fears that when full returns are in the loss of life will prove of appalling magnitude. Reports from the valley of the Colombia stretch of territory to be heard from, valley of the Colorado below this place state that hundreds of the Cocopah Indians have been drowned. They are located about sixty miles south of here and their tribe is about 5,000 strong. Their villages are all on low lands, and as there are no hills on which the Indians could take refuge an immense number of them must have been caught in the flood and swept away. The water rose six feet in twelve hours and came on them almost without warning. In this city the ruin has been most complete, the Catholic church being the only building left standing on the main street. The convent and adjoining school stood the wear of the waves for many hours, but finally Crumbled Into Ruins.

The Yuma Sentinel moved its office four times yesterday, but finally succeeded in getting out on time. The Times was less fortunate, and its office and material went down in the wreck. Fears were entertained that the fine railroad bridge would be carried away, but fortunately the piers stood the test, and unless some extra heavy wreckage should lodge on the superstructure and cause a jam, it will not be materially injured. The officers at Ft. Yuma have done everything in their power to asist the sufferers, and fortunately there was a good supply of tents on hand, and these were at once placed at the dis-posal of the homeless families, and much suffering thereby prevented. much suffering thereby prevented. Should there be no further rainfall, it is hoped that there will be little further loss, and that with the restoring of communications with the West sufficient re-hef will be brought in from San Francisco and Los Angeles to prevent any serious trouble.

THE HENNESSY TRIAL.

More Interesting Testimony Given by Witnesses Who Say They Heard the Shooting and Saw the Men Who Did It. NEW ORLEANS, March 2.-The Hennessy trial was resumed Saturday and some very interesting testimony was given. George Nascare testified that he passed by a cobbler shop on Girard, near Basin street, about 11 o'clock on the night of Oct. 15, 1890. He saw a shop and heard woices. [This is the place where the assassins were in hiding when the chief came up.] The witness said that he also saw five or six men standing under the grocery shop opposite and that he recognized two of them. He then identified Scaffedi and Monasterio as two of the men he saw. The identification caused a profound sensation in the court room. Zachra Foster, colored, said he was passing at 11 o'clock that night and saw four men with shotguns or long pistols, pointed as if to fire, standing in front of an alley way near the cobbler's shop. They fired at a man in light clothing approaching. He stopped and saw the man in light clothing brace himself against the wall and fire back at the four men who were shooting at him. The faces of three of these he saw quite plainly and identified them as Scaffedi, Marchesi and Politz. Several other witnesses testified that they heard the shooting and saw the men who did it.

DEATH IN SAUSAGES.

Many Neighbors Who Ate the Toothsome

Links Have Trichinosis. IDA GROVE, IA., March 2.—There is some excitement in this locality, about before they can go east. Every house six miles south of hero, over several cases of trichinosis, three of which have proven fatal, and some ton more persons afflicted are not expected to recover. The disease first appeared in the family of Chris Wemeberg, an industrious German farmer. The family have had considerable company, and many persons have been exposed. The many persons have been exposed. The family lately butchered and made a large amount of sausage, and friends and neighbors were called in to partake of it. Those who did so were afterward taken down with a peculiar sickness. They gradually grew worse and became stiff and sore. The disease was at first pronounced typhoid fever by a neighborhood physician, but older physi-cians were called and pronounced it genuine trichinosis. Many who ate the deadly sausage are ill and others are fearful of being taken down.

FREE RAW SUGAR.

Many Refiners will Have it Ready for Market April 1. PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—Under a provision of the McKinley tariff act free raw sugars becomes a realty one month from Saturday, and in preparation for that day's coming an important step has already been taken by almost all the refineries of this city. The law says that after March 1 refiners, upon giving bond, may import raw sugars free of deavor to have the house before the deavor to have the house before the duty, refine it, ship it to destination and have it ready for the market when the final adjournment take action on them. The chances, however, for action on these matters before the close, in view with this provision a $50,000 bond has been given by a number of the large refiners, and some of them had the novel pleasure yesterday of working up for the consumers free raw sugar. None of this can find a market till April 1.

Son of Ex-Governor Reynolds, of Rhode Island, Commits Suicide.

CHICAGO, March 2.-James Reynolds, son of ex-Governor Reynolds, of Rhode Island, and head salesman for the hardware house of Kelly, Maus & Co., committed suicide at his home, No. 4328 Oakenwald avenue, Saturday morning, by shooting himself in the head. It is supposed that he was suffering from temporary insanity, caused by over-work. Mr. Reynolds was 50 years old, and leaves a wife and two children. His body will be embalmed and sent to Rhode Island, where his father and mother reside.

Manderson Nominated to Succeed Ingalls. WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Republican senators held a caucus last night at the Capitol for the purpose of de-termining upon a candidate to succeed Mr. Ingalls as president pro tempore of the senate. There was a good attendance, and several ballots were taken, with Senators Manderson, Hoar and Frye as candidates, before a decision was into his wife's breast Saturday morning, fatally injuring her. He first kissed her and asked if she loved him. Mr. derson received a majority of the votes cast and, on motion, his nomination was made unanimous, and the caucus Brief Sketch of His Life. George Hearst was born in Franklin county, Missouri, September 3, 1820, one year after his father, a South Carolinian, had emigrated there; he received a public school education; passed his early manhood on his father's farm; in 1850 went to California, where he worked in the mines and located and Pacific coast mines gave employment to 2,000 men and his quartz mills crushed 1,000 tons of ore daily; he had ever since been engaged in mining, stock raising and farming; in 1865 he was elected to the California state legislature; in 1882 was a candidate for governor before the San Jose convention; in 1885 the Democrats, who were in the minority in the state legislature, gave him their unanimous vote for United States senator, and on March 23, 1886, he was appointed United States senator, as a Democrat, by Governor Stoneman, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John F. Miller; was elected to the United States senate to succeed Abram P. Williams, Republican, and took his seat March 4, 1887. His term of office would have expired March 3, 1893.

The estimate of the wealth of Senator Hearst is $20,000,000. He leaves a series of the series of the

For the Fifty-First Congress to Complete Its Work.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—There is practically but two working days remaining for the Fifty-first Congress to complete its labors and adjourn, as it must at noon on Wednesday, March 4. The time of both the senate and the house during those two days will be mainly devoted to the consideration of conference reports on appropriation bills, and several other important meas-ures now in conference. In the house the chairman of the special committees to investigate the work of the civil service commission, the alleged official misconduct of Commissioner of Pensions Raum and the silver pool investigation have all made reports, and will en-deavor to have the house before the appropriation bills now in conference, is very slim.

A CLOSE CONTEST.

Excitement Over Tuesday's Election Increases in Canada.

OTTAWA, March 2.—The Conservatives are not sending as much consolation out of the elections by acclamations on Thursday as they at first credited themselves with. Joncas, one of the unopposed candidates who has been re-Sketch of His Career — He Began turned to sit for Gaspe, has repudiated his connection with the Conservative Death He Was Worth $20,000,000.

Washington, March 2.—Senator George Hearst, of California, died at of the French Conservative ministers will have a hard time next Thursday. Sir Adelphe Caron was moved from Quebec county to Rimouski, where there is a Liberal majority of over 300, and Sir Hector Langevin is running in Richelieu, which was carried by the Conservatives by only 58 majority last time. Sir John Macdonald himself is having a hard time in Kingston, where Gunn, Liberal, and Edwards, Single-tax candidates are running against him. It is generally admitted that Gunn, who came within seventeen of defeating Sir John last election, will get the seat.

TALK ABOUT BIG HEADS.

An 8-Months Old Child Whose Head Measures 28 Inches in Circumference.

READING, PA., March 2.-A remarkable case of abnormal development of the head in an infant has just come to light here. The subject is an 8-months old female child of Russian Jew parentand while the body is emaciated and less than the average size of a child of that age, the head has grown to treures twenty-eight inches in circumfer ence. This abnormal development be gan shortly after the child's birth. It is, of course, impossible for the child to sit up, as the neck will not support the head, but otherwise it seems to be in reasonably good health. The Irish Leader Speaks at Navan-Empress Frederick Writes From Paris to the Kaiser - Col. Howard Vincent, M. P., Addresses a Circular to the DUBLIN, March 2.—Parnell spoke yesterday at Navan, in the county of Meath. On his way from this city he was received with ovations at every station. At Drogheda he said he hoped the support everywhere accorded him would show his opponents that Irishmen would not allow them to strike beby the belt under the pretext of dealing with questions of public moment. At Navan the houses were decorated with green boughs and streets were panned by triumphal arches. The meeting was a great one. Parnell said that perhaps in the not distant future one one might arise to address them, not as men of royal Meath, but as men of republican Meath. The men of Meath gave him the first opportunity to serve Ireland in public life and with men of Meath he Already they had put a snaffle in the mouths of the landlords. With a parhament at College Green they would fit the same mouths with bit and hirdoon. The men who stood by him and by Ireland in parliament had driven the seceders from the committee room and would yet drive them out of Ireand and out of the House of Commons. He had never feared the result. If he had not a colleague left in the committee room he would still have asked the perdict of Irish people. He hoped his apponents would take warning and free themselves from the entanglements of English party alliances woven wound them by the Grand Old Spider.

A series of resolutions strongly enouncing the appointment was adoptd and will be forwarded to Mississippi enators and representatives. They harge that Hill is not a citizen of this aty or district and has been repudiated by its voters, and that the president has sed over and ignored reputable white Republicans and members of the Grand Army of the Republic to appoint Hill. Republicans as well as Democrats took part in the meeting, which was distinguished rather for intensity than bitterness of feeling. It is a fact that any negro, resident or not, would be objectionable to the people.

CHICAGO CARPENTER'S DISPUTE.

B Will Probably Result in a General Strike Early Next Month.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Last spring the union carpenters of the city went on a strike, and after a time a portion of the Boss Carpenters' Association withdrew and formed a new association, which agreed to the terms of the men as to hours and wages, and a contract to run antil April 1 was entered into. There has been considerable friction since that time, each side accusing the other of bad faith. Matters have now been brought to a crisis, the bosses having nanimously resolved that they will no longer be bound by the agreement. This, in effect, puts them at one with the other boss carpenters, and the outbook now is that a general strike of the union carpenters of the city will take place April 1, if, indeed, this action does not precipitate it before.

The Scull-Greevy Contest.

SOMERSET, PA., March 2.—Testimony was taken in the Greevy-Scull contested Congressional election case in different parts of this county during the past week and ended on Saturday night. During the last forty days Greevy howed that about 35 illegal votes had been cast for Scull in this county. Scull is represented by John R. Scott, who says that he will increase his client's majority in this county from 300 to 400 before he is through. The contest is watched with great interest and large crowds of people daily attend the hearings. There has been no attempt by either side to show that any fraud was perpetrated or contemplated.

THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER BOOMING. Fears That a Repetition of Last Year's Flood Will Occur.

NEW YORK, March 2.-T. J. Kernan, attorney for the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railroad company, has of that company, in this city, from Baton Rouge, La.: "The Mississippi is booming here, the gauge new reads 31 1-2 feet and rising. This is only 5 feet lower than the high water mark of 1890, when the high water mark was raised higher than ever before known. The top notch of high water in 1890 was not reached until April 21, and naturally great apprehension is felt here and all along the Lower Mississippi valley that there will be a repetition of the flood of last year. That congress should do something in this emergency is strongly urged by every one in this section, the general opinion being that every dollar spent now for protection would be worth more than a hundred spent hereafter for the relief of flood sufferers."

CONCORD GRANITE WORKERS

The Sharpeners' union demand an increase from $2.75 to $3 per day. The Quarrymen's union demand an increase from $1.65 to $2 and upward per day; also an increase of 25 per cent. in the wages of powder and steam drillers. The cutters, sharpeners and quarrymen also notified the manufacturers that, beginning lives 1 they will urers that, beginning June 1, they will work only eight hours on Saturday, with full pay, and that wages must be paid before the 10th of each month.

FASHIONS OF THE FAIR,

OLIVE HARPER WRITES OF THE STYLES OF THE DAY.

telegraphed the following to the officials Broadcloth Will Be Used Largely This Season-Some of the Garments Will Be Very Fetching Indeed-Pictures of Four Specimen Costumes.

> [Special Correspondence.] NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—It has been reserved for the modistes of this season to show what could be done with broadcloth. Some of the most beautiful toilets for reception, the street and even for dancing, and at least one wedding dress, have been made of it.

This broadcloth is shown in all the new tints and colors-terra cotta, old rose, ashes of roses, lavender, heliotrope, tan, wood brown and all the gray and green shades, as well as blue cream and

instead of the smooth, satiny surface it used to have it is now made with a soft close finish, which gives it an appearance between fine felt and short pile

And it is treated in a different way from that of any other season. I noticed one dress on a young lady which will give an idea. This gown was of terra cotta cloth and brocaded silk in the same shade. The skirt was of silk, and the upper part of cloth cut en princesse, the tabs being left open all the way down to the bottom. The front and bottom and the straight seams up the back were hemmed three inches wide, with a drawn open work one inch wide above the hem. This drawn work on cloth is very novel and effective, and must be exceedingly difficult to do. Others have the bottom of the draperies hemstitched, which also is very handsome.

Reception dresses of cloth are slashed and laced with silken cord, with fan shaped plaitings of silk, satin or velvet beneath. Some have deep cut tabs bordered with very narrow bands of fur and embroidered with black silk and gold threads, or with jet beading, or perhaps with some of the imitation jewel trimming, according to the use it is to have. Some even combine it with lace, though this should be very care-

A very graceful home dress was made of cream colored cloth and black china silk. The front and panels were of the silk. The front and panels were of the cloth, embroidered in black and gold these instruments at less than factory thread. The Princesse was of black, with yellow buttercups in pretty sprays. The sleeves were of brocade satin, cream and black brocade. The design is susceptible of many changes to suit different tastes and can be made up in any of the lighter fabrics.

Walking suits of cloth, serge, tricot or cheviot would be very stylish copied from the design which was on a wax figure in the leading house in New York. It was in tan colored garniture embroidered with gold and black, with the body of the costume in snuff brown-Scotch snuff cloth. The very plentiful use of bronze buttons added a touch of ornamentation it would have lacked. The whole is very handsome and ladylike.

Another very stylish new spring gown for the promenade is of deep myrtle green cloth, made over a corsage of velvet. The front is draped in a very novel but taking style, while a rich band of galloon in green, black and silver extends diagonally across the waist and also decorates the skirt.

HOME AND WALKING COSTUMES. And that reminds me that galloons. beaded passementerie and jet trimming of all kinds will be worn more than ever before, if we can believe modistes and manufacturers.

I noticed a very stylish and dressy walking gown, which is a very useful model. The material is that soft striped wool with raised stripes and tufts upon it called Californien, in fawn and dark blue. The front of the corsage was of indigo blue velvet. Around the entire skirt, which, like the waist, was cut on the bias, was a band of lynx fur, and pretty little frogs in blue silk, and buttons of silver decorated the waist. The toque was trimmed with the same fur, but of course that will not be worn very many weeks more, for the new hats will be "out" very soon now. More work for the fashion writers.
